

EMPEROR ONCE DEMOCRATIC

Twenty-three years ago, this writer, visiting in Japan, got considerable first-hand information about the emperor from a young Japanese Quaker, Renzo Sawada, who had been picked to accompany Hirohito, then crown prince, on a trip to see the western world.

Why Sawada, educated in a Quaker school in Tokyo, was chosen to accompany the young prince on this history-making trip, I do not know, except that the Imperial council of education wanted a commoner of Hirohito's age who spoke English and French to travel with the future emperor.

Never before had a ruler of Japan left its shores. In the past scarcely was the emperor even seen by his subjects. Some idea of his isolation can be gained from the fact that the word "mika" means "awful"; the word "do" means "place"; and the name "Mikado" means "awful-place."

In the old days, priests came to worship at the "awful place," but they never saw the emperor whose other name even today is "Tenno," meaning "son of Heaven." The emperor is synonymous with the sun and from this comes the Japanese flag, with 16 spreading rays symbolic of the rising sun and the emperor.

In those days, the Mikado was the theoretical owner of all the land and all the people and their possessions. He was their God and protector. His lance and shield came from Ama, "the ancestral region." Thus arose the cult of Shintoism which actually means "rule of the superiors" or "way of the Gods." Even the word for government in Japan, "matusurigoto" means "shrine visiting" or "religion."

Modernizing the Emperor.

Thus during most of Japanese history, in fact, up until just after the arrival of Commander Perry in 1852, the Mikado was an ethereal spiritual being, not a ruler; and it came as a definite shock to many Japanese that their emperor-to-be should sail off to England and France to absorb western culture.

In fact, some of the more intense patriots actually threw themselves on the railroad tracks in front of the train carrying Hirohito to Yokohama in protest against the departure.

Naturally Hirohito may have changed a lot during the 25 years since his trip. Naturally, also my friend Sawada was prejudiced in his favor. However, the story of that voyage was one of a young man anxious to mingle with his fellowmen, astound the emperor-worshippers by wrestling on the deck with his aides, get a bloody nose, and dance democratically with the servants of the Duke of Atholl in the same "barbaric" Scotland, which, according to Shinto priests, is made from the mud and seafoam left over after creation of the "heavenly isles" — Japan.

Hirohito even managed to deliver a public speech to the lord mayor of London; and no emperor in all the history of Japan had ever delivered a public speech before. In all Japanese history, furthermore, no emperor had purchased an article of any shape, size or form. In Paris, however, Hirohito insisted on going alone and buying a necktie, and later a pearl for his mother.

Hirohito Goes Underground.

His greatest ambition, however, was to ride on the Paris subway or "metro." Before leaving Tokyo, Hirohito's staff had been strictly forbidden to let the heir to the throne ride on any subway; but despite this, the crown prince bolted most of his staff and ventured underground. He insisted on buying the tickets himself and handed them to the fat lady guarding the gate.

But he handed them to her in a bunch, instead of spreading them out fan shape, so that she could not punch them quickly. All of which brought forth a storm of abuse in metro French, heaped on the head of the future ruler of Japan.

Mrs. A. Keesling Entertains Red Cross Workers

Mrs. Archie Keesling, general chairman of the Campbell Branch of the San Jose Chapter of the Red Cross, invited the local chairmen and a few other workers to her home Monday afternoon to meet several of the heads of departments from the San Jose chapter and discuss the program for the coming months in Red Cross work. Although the fighting phase of the war is over, as long as there are men overseas the Red Cross will carry on in supplying the various services and articles as it has in the past.

The work of the several branches was explained and the immediate special demands. Although some lines of work have been discontinued as no longer needed, there is a vast amount still to be done.

Letterman hospital is asking for 10,000 knitted sweaters a month to supply the returning service men from the South Pacific areas who suffer from the great change in climate. Yarn is available for any one who will knit.

Allotments of material to make garments for the civilians of Manila has been received and there is need for more sewers.

At present in San Jose Christmas boxes are being packed for men who will be on the high seas on Christmas day. The quota assigned San Jose is 5000 boxes. The various organizations of the area are being asked to contribute to the purchase of the items which are placed in the parcels. These several articles bought in quantities amount to a dollar for each package.

A card with the name of an organization or individual paying for a package is enclosed so that the recipient may acknowledge its receipt if he wishes.

The representatives of the San Jose chapter who were present were Mrs. H. S. Kittredge, chairman of Volunteer Special Services and her vice chairman, Mrs. Charles B. Polhemus; Miss Anita B. Colombet, chairman of Production; Miss Stella B. Leviston, chairman of Motor Corps; Miss Marion Eley, chairman of Junior Red Cross; Mrs. Max Bloom, chairman of Camp and Hospital committee; Mrs. Margaret Adams, supervisor of Home Service; Mrs. Virginia Bassett, executive secretary; Miss Jo Wagner, coordinator of First Aid, Water Safety and Accident Prevention, and also director of Junior Red Cross.

The Campbell ladies were Mrs. Clarence Fagalde, vice chairman; Mrs. E. L. Farnham, secretary-treasurer and Home Service chairman; Miss Lucille Knight, production chairman; Mrs. Irma Sanders, Motor Corps; Mrs. Monica Parr, of the Blood Donor service (now discontinued); Mrs. Wilbur Mitchell, Surgical Dressings, also discontinued; Mrs. Edna Smith, publicity; Mrs. Lila Strong, garment making; Mrs. Alfreda Runge, Junior Red Cross of the high school and Mrs. Bernice Saveker, Junior Red Cross of the grammar school, and Mrs. Georgia Jones and Mrs. J. Campbell Press Changes Ownership

I am hereby announcing the sale of the Campbell Press to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Allen of Portland, Oregon, who will assume ownership September first.

Mr. Smith bought the paper, then published under the name, "The Interurban Press" in February of 1912, and we arrived the third of April of that year to take over the publication.

During the long period of years since, many changes have been made in the equipment of the plant, which at the time of purchase was using hand set type and a one page hand press.

Our relations with the Campbell community have been very pleasant and we have had the privilege of meeting and knowing many people whom otherwise we might not have had the opportunity to know.

Since Mr. Smith passed away and I have conducted the paper, with the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knappen, I have received the courtesy and consideration of the business men and various organizations, and the citizenry in general, for which I wish to express my appreciation.

If Campbell is to continue to have a newspaper in these days of advanced costs it must receive even more support and to that end I bespeak that backing for the new publishers, who come to Campbell with every intent of giving their best efforts to increasing the value of the paper to the community.

Stanford Lee Is In Pacific Operations

Guam, August 16—Stanford R. Lee, seaman, first class, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Lee, Rt. 2, Box 247, Campbell serves aboard the USS LIND, one of the 133-warship armada which helped force surrender of Japan.

Arriving off Japanese shores at a time when the enemy homeland already was reeling under devastating carrier-plane blows, this destroyer not only participated in the showdown scene as a screening unit for successive air attacks but pumped its own main-battery shells into the Jap targets.

The LIND, commissioned only last September, hunted the Jap in operations off Luzon, Formosa, French Indo-China, Tokyo Bay, Iwo Jima and Okinawa before her final participation off Japan. She has rescued at least a dozen American Carrier-plane pilots from the sea and displays four Jap flags on her bridge for planes shot down. She escaped a kamikaze pilot by a scant 20 yards.

Last Rites For Infant Held Wednesday

David Neal Peevyhouse, nine months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peevyhouse of Campbell, passed away in San Jose, Monday, August 27. David was a brother of Udella, Betty and Michael Peevyhouse.

Farewell services were held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. from the Roger Darling Garden Chapel with interment in Santa Clara City cemetery.

duction. Mrs. Paul Becker, camp and hospital and Mrs. Dan Clark, nurses aid, were unable to be present.

After the business was concluded a record was made by each of the ladies speaking a few words, which the hostess played back after a service of dainty refreshments had been enjoyed.

Rev. D. H. Baldwin Likes New Place

In a letter to the editor, Rev. Don H. Baldwin tells of his new location where they will be for the school year, and as many friends had requested his address we are giving it herewith—Mendham Methodist Church, East Main St., Mendham, New Jersey.

Mendham, Mr. Baldwin states, is just 37 miles west of New York City, and as he has decided to do most of his school work at Drew University, which is located at Madison, N. J., and just ten miles from Mendham, he plans to commute daily.

He writes that the church is small, which suits his wishes for this year, and the parsonage is completely furnished which also answers their requirements as they took no furniture east.

They are quite happy to be so near the school and also to New York. Some of the men have to commute as far as 200 miles to their churches, he says.

Mrs. Vivian Gill Kennedy and her husband of Alhambra were over night guests of Mrs. Kennedy's former class mate, Mrs. Irma Young Sanders.

Another school friend who was a recent guest in the Sanders' home was Mrs. Irene Preston Field of Vista, Calif. Mr. Kennedy is a highway construction engineer and Mr. Field is in the horticultural department of Placer county.

Rev. Lawrence Osborne, pastor of the Methodist Church, left Monday for three weeks vacation during which he will visit Mrs. Osborne's parents in Wisconsin and his parents in Pennsylvania. On his return he will bring his sons, Tom and Dick, who have spent the summer with relatives in the midwest.

A reception for Rev. Robert L. Carlson, the new minister of the Congregational Church, will be held Sunday afternoon, Sept. 9, from 5 p. m. to 8 p. m. Members and friends are invited.

Leo Carrillo In "The Bad Man" at Geary Theatre

All "The Bad Men" in the world aren't as dangerous as they seem to be. Porter Emerson Browne conclusively proves this in his delightful comedy success "The Bad Man", which Henry Duffy is presenting at the Geary Theatre, San Francisco. "The Bad Man" is the master fun-maker that kept New York audiences in howls of laughter for a number of seasons. As the lovable desperado, Leo Carrillo enjoys a characterization that has endeared him to an adoring public. The central figure is Pancho Lopez, a Mexican chieftan with an unparalleled sense of humor and a genial spirit. Instead of proving a creature of fear, he turns out to be a gentleman. "The Bad Man" is no ordinary play. It ranks among the ten best dramas that American authors have produced in as many years. It is an entertainment that forces you to howl with laughter and, at the same time gives you a serious something to think about afterwards. That's why it is great.

Prune Harvest Under Full Swing

The Campbell Co-operative Dryer is functioning at full capacity utilizing the additional tunnels just completed for the seasons prune crop.

Manager G. K. Schrader reports some 350 tons being received daily from the 220 grower members for whom the dryer operates.

The air in the vicinity of the dehydrators is redolent of prunes and boxes of prunes waiting to be dried are piled in almost every available space about the plants.

The heavy wind of Monday brot the prunes tumbling down from the trees to keep the army of pickers thruout the valley very busy.

Major Green Visits Parents

Major and Mrs. Willis M. Green were guests of the Major's parents Mr. and Mrs. George Green and grandmother Mrs. Mary Woodbridge of Casey road for two days last week.

Major Green had returned after 27 months overseas in England, North Africa, Sicily and Italy, where he served as staff officer with the 416th Night Fighter Squadron and Headquarters Mediterranean Allied Air Forces.

Major Green and wife Dorothy, stopped at Campbell enroute to the Army Air Force Redistribution center at Santa Ana where the Major is reporting for reassignment.

Walter Smily in a letter to the editor says to "Tell everyone I hope to see them soon." Although his contract calls for six months after the war is over he thinks it will not be that long before he can come back to "good old California" as most of his work will be finished.

Mrs. David Sanders is now a member of the Red Cross motor corps serving with the San Jose unit.

Harry D. Evans Accepts Post of Night Watchman

Harry D. Evans who was discharged from the Navy where he was stationed in New York state was approached by a committee from the Campbell Chamber of Commerce to accept the position of night watchman. He is also a deputy sheriff and so will be in a position to give additional service.

Evans served very satisfactorily as constable before he was called back into service, but this arrangement will be better.

As the watchman's pay is by contributions, any person who can help the Chamber of Commerce by a subscription, will be rendering themselves and the community a service, as Evans will give a wider service than possible heretofore.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans will again make their home in Campbell as soon as the house which they have engaged is available.

Local Man Flies Back from the War

Speeded toward home from overseas as part of the "Green Project" which calls for the Air Transport Command's Caribbean Division to fly over 30,000 returnees from Europe to Miami Army Air Field each month, another Campbell man is back in the states, Pfc. John Vieira of Rt. 2, Box 745.

In less than 24 hours he will go to a reception center nearer home for separation from the service or furlough prior to reassignment.

Pfc. Vieira was overseas 18 months with the 120th AAA Gunnery Battalion in the European Theatre of War and Germany and has five battle stars.

Guild Will Meet Thursday, Sept. 6

The General Woman's Guild of the Campbell Congregational church will open its fall activities with a regular meeting in the church parlors, Thursday afternoon, Sept. 6, at 2 p. m.

All members and friends are urged to be present as several important matters must be presented for immediate decision. Group 1 will be hostess.

Group 3 of the Guild will meet on Thursday, Sept. 13, with Mrs. W. H. Stray.

John B. Stewart passed away August 22 and last rites were held Friday from the Melvin Chapel in Los Gatos. Stewart was the father of Mrs. Elizabeth S. McBain of Campbell.

Howard R. Hardy of Los Gatos and Velvia Moffitt of Campbell were granted a marriage license last week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Shank, Jr., of San Jose, a son, Terry, August 22 at O'Connor sanitarium.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Copeland, 60 Dillon Avenue, a girl, Delores Elzora, August 18, at O'Connor sanitarium.

LABOR DAY

This first post-war Labor Day should be the proudest in the history of the labor movement, and in its celebration all Americans should proudly join. For Labor Day falls in a time of victorious peace because all Americans—rich and poor, boss and employe, gentile, Jew and Negro—poured the sweat and blood of free men into outfighting and outproducing the mechanized armies and regimented labor of our enemies.

In fighting and working side by side, Americans learned to cooperate understandingly, for their burdens and problems proved amazingly similar. Abnormal war taxes that harried the company treasurer also harried the employe, as withholding taxes shrunk his pay-check and his living costs rose. Governmental regulations, confusing and conflicting, hampered farmers in their enormous production role. They hampered transportation, as when the Department of Justice accused the railroads of anti-trust law violation for procedures in full accord with Interstate Commerce Commission policies—and congressmen, alarmed at the prospect of a transportation snarl, began the fight for the Bulwinkle bill, a measure to slash the red tape of dual control of the carriers. Bureaucratic controls hampered businesses and unions in their relations, to such degree that some regrettable strikes resulted more from governmental interference than from friction between managements and workers.

It seems reasonable to hope that comradeship in the trials and achievements of the perilous war years has drawn all groups in America closer in mutual respect and tolerance—has given them all a more mature outlook as the great and common tasks of the peace are begun. If this be true, then our Labor Day of 1945 marks a most significant milestone in the Nation's progress.

YOU CAN'T LAUGH OFF DEBT!

When the U. S. Government turned off the great Lend-Lease spigot last week, and announced that in its place straight loans will be made to war-stricken Allied countries for purchase of American goods, Oliver Lyttleton made a statement in the British House of Commons.

"If you wish to obtain assistance from the United States," declared this Conservative and former president of the British Board of Trade, "you must be careful about the nasty things you say about private enterprise that will affront American public opinion."

This warning "brought loud laughter from the Labor side of the House!"

On the same day, in Washington, D. C., Leo J. Crowley, head of the Foreign Economic Administration, was asked what guarantees the United States has which might insure repayment of foreign loans. Said he:

"I don't know of anything to guarantee they'll pay us. The question of how we will settle debts is one for the State Department."

It appears to us that the question of loan security is of direct and very serious concern to the American public, as Mr. Lyttleton so shrewdly discerns, and not merely a U. S. State Department problem. Foreign loans will be made from money earned and credit created, under the free enterprise system by the debt-laden, tax-oppressed American people. It will be the American people's loss, not the State Department's, if the "collateral" of a British economy gone socialistic proves worthless.

Mr. Lyttleton might have added another warning to the Labor side of the House: It isn't the smartest thing in the world to loose a sneering laugh at the banker when you're hat-in-hand for a loan!

VICTORY BONDS

You can't buy War Bonds any more—but wait a minute! You can and should buy Victory Bonds. They're the same Bonds you have been buying all along. The only change is in the name. They offer you the same attractive rate of interest—one dollar at maturity for every three invested—the same convenient denominations, the same guarantee of safety, which in this case is the best in the world.

The ending of the war does not mean that there will be no further need for our dollars to help clean up the job. Many billions more will have to be spent in supplying our armies of occupation, bringing millions of men home and caring for our wounded.

No less important is the need for continued investment in Victory Bonds as a protection against inflation. Victory has not eliminated the danger of runaway prices but has increased it. Remember, the most serious inflation occurred not during, but after, the last war. Price ceilings simply can't be maintained if we use our current earnings or savings to bid for scarce goods.

California's record of Bond buying has been a good one. Let's maintain it! So keep right on saving and buying Victory Bonds. If you do, you won't have to fear the proverbial wolf at the door. You can make him a pet.

25 YEARS OF WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE

Just a quarter of a century ago the women of America "arrived" politically. Their right to vote became effective nationally on August 26, 1920. This was the climax of a struggle that began before the last century was half over.

Among the women who became famous for their unceasing efforts to obtain equal voting privileges for the fair sex was that grand old warrior Susan B. Anthony. Today women vote without giving the matter a second thought. But in 1872 when Susan Anthony cast a ballot in the presidential election she was arrested and fined for her disregard of the law. The fine, however, was never enforced.

We know that if she could have lived to see the part that women take in politics today, not only in voting but in running for some of the highest offices in the Nation, she would feel that her long struggle had been well rewarded.

FOR WHOM THE BELL RINGS

For many a young man fresh out of uniform, for boys and girls who were toiling long hours in shipyards and war plants a few weeks ago, and for the customary crop of school-age youngsters, ten thousand California school bells will soon ring out.

When the Nation's manpower needs were so desperate that the patriotic work of young folk was urgently needed, there was no alternative to temporary disruption of education throughout America. That time, happily, is past.

Never has a generation of America's youth faced a more responsible adulthood than is faced by students who return to school this fall. Never have our educators had greater responsibility in training boys and girls for the duties of citizenship and leadership. Ahead lies an unpredictable and dangerous world.

It is not only for the future of the students as individuals, but for the future of this Nation as the world's great citadel of human freedom, that the school bells ring.

"Rebecca" to Play In San Jose Sept. 13

Diana Barrymore, daughter of John Barrymore and the niece of Lionel and Ethel, will play the role of the second Mrs. De Winter when the Daphne du Maurier stage play "Rebecca" has one performance in San Jose on Thursday evening, September 13. The youngest of the acting Barrymore had to dye her brown hair a lovely gold to play the part of the frightened, awkward wife of Maxim De Winter, whose first wife, the dead Rebecca, seems to still dominate the brooding house of Manderley, and whose memories are kept aggressively alive by the terrifying housekeeper, Mrs. Danvers. Ethel Griffies plays Mrs. Danvers, and Bramwell Fletcher, director of the production, is Maxim De Winter.

San Jose Concert Series to Open October 1

The San Jose Concert Series will have its opening two weeks earlier than usual in order to at last present the magnificent Helen Traubel, whose engagement with the San Francisco Opera Company makes her San Jose appearance possible. "The finest voice to be heard in this country" declared the New York Times, and in Wagnerian opera roles Helen Traubel has no rival at all. Single tickets for the Traubel recital go on sale September 13.

San Francisco Opera to be in San Jose Oct. 8

"La Boheme", the second offering of its current season at the San Francisco Opera House, will be brought to San Jose by the San Francisco Opera Company on Monday evening, October 8. "Boheme" is one of the most touching and entertaining of operas, set in the Latin Quarter of old Paris. Licia Albanese, whose singing of the role of the frail, pathetic Mimi has enthralled San Francisco for the past two seasons, will be starred, with Kullman, Pinza, Baccaloni, Valentino, Cahanovsky and Connor as co-principals.

Rev. J. H. Bennett writes that he begins his new work at Loomis on September 2. That altho the church is a small one it is the only one for miles around and promises to be a pleasant location.

Carl Field, Jr. is now Ensign Carl Field since receiving his wings and commission in the Navy Air Corps last week at Pensacola, Fla. He has spent a short leave with his grandmother and aunt at Lakeland, Fla., and reports to Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., for operational training.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Jeffers, their daughter Elaine, and Miss Mary Blair returned weeks spent at Angora Lake near Lake Tahoe.

RATIONING DATES

Local War Price and Rationing Boards will grant purchasing certificates on the basis of importance of occupational use of cars for which tires are needed. The Boards may also issue a limited number of certificates for tires for cars used for non-occupational purposes in hardship cases. A new provision also permits Boards to grant certificates for tires to be used on house trailers that serve as living quarters.

Although gasoline rationing has ended, new passenger car tires will continue to be rationed until the supply improves.

TIRES

Tire replacement inspections on R-1 Application form are required when applying for passenger tires.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in Christian Science churches on September 2. The Golden Text is from John: "The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ" (1:17).

Excerpts from the sermon include Matthew 28:5,6: "And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for he is risen, as he said"; and this passage from the Christian Science textbook: "The Christ-idea, or the Christ-man, rose higher to human view because of the crucifixion, and thus proved that Truth was the master of death" (p. 316).

A COMMITTEE of connoisseurs in chic headed by Lady Mendel recently named Gene Tierney the best dressed girl in moviedom.

Just prior to that a national magazine listed Gene among the top four beauties of the screen, the others being Hedy Lamarr, Ingrid Bergman and Linda Darnell.

And since 20th-Century-Fox's talent pool evidently puts her at the acting top—she's come off with all the best roles the lot has to offer in 1945—I thought it time to find out how Gene feels about life in general.

It's amusing to know that the next two Tierney releases will not display Gene's modern sartorial talents. When I came on the "Dragonwyck" set, where she was making a scene with Vincent Price, she was wearing the fashions of 1914. And in "A Bell for Adano," which is being shown in theaters this month, she's clad in the picturesque tatterdemalion of a peasant girl in a captured Italian town.

But not until "Leave Her to Heaven," which Gene begins in late spring, will she wear a chic modern wardrobe again—the sort of clothes that made "Laura" such a hit with women.

Take It From Me

Since nobody has gotten around to awarding Gene the medal for brains—such evidently not being included in obvious star assets—let me be the one to name her one of the most nimble minds in one of the steadiest little heads ever crowned by laurels. Designers love to create bizarre and extravagant whimsies to emphasize her intriguing face and rhythmic design. But in her private life and tastes Gene is conservative to a degree. Wears little or no makeup, and her shining brown hair is the precise shade nature gave her.

So, because she's young, super-lovely, mother of a 15-month-old daughter, Daria, and a happy wife, Gene's fans have come to think of her as a sort of high priestess of the modern theme. A girl of tomorrow. Nothing is farther from the truth.

"Hedda," she said, "sometimes I really think our fans believe we live in a sort of crystal and plastic dream world. But I'm not looking forward to jumping into a helicopter and landing on the studio roof instead of driving down the canyon each morning with good old Butch, my police dog, on the front seat beside me. And, aside from the fact in personal tastes, I'm really not looking forward to the day when television, all-out air transport, and chores done by robots in solar houses will be a reality. Think how much charm it will take from living.

Besides, few of the young things of today realize it will take years and years to develop such living. A lot of my friends seem to feel the post-victory year will be something worthy of Jules Verne's imagination.

I suggested she was probably influenced by the character of Miranda, the lovely heroine of Ernst Lubitsch's production "Dragonwyck."

Extremes Are Out

Gene has just as definite ideas about fashion, too. Although she has been named the best dressed woman in Hollywood, she frowns on extremes. Boiled down to a couple of essentials, her don'ts on dress come to:

"Don't be conspicuous. Conspicuous makeup, color, line, detail, and combinations violate the rules of good taste. The well dressed woman looks just right for the occasion—blends into the moment."

Gene is thrilled at playing the role of the evil sister in "Leave Her to Heaven."

"Ellen has acting quality, and that is what an actress should consider," she says. "The bad girls of fiction have given more opportunities to stars than the sweet young things."

I remember when Gene Tierney played half-castes, outlaw girls, Eurasians—for a time she was almost as typed in the sarong as Dotty Lamour, or threatened to be. She didn't rise easily into the high place on the screen in which she now finds herself, although she is practically cameraproof, undoubtedly one of the best lens subjects in the industry today. She has graciousness and much personal charm, and a complexion of flawless beauty.

Chit-Chats on This and That

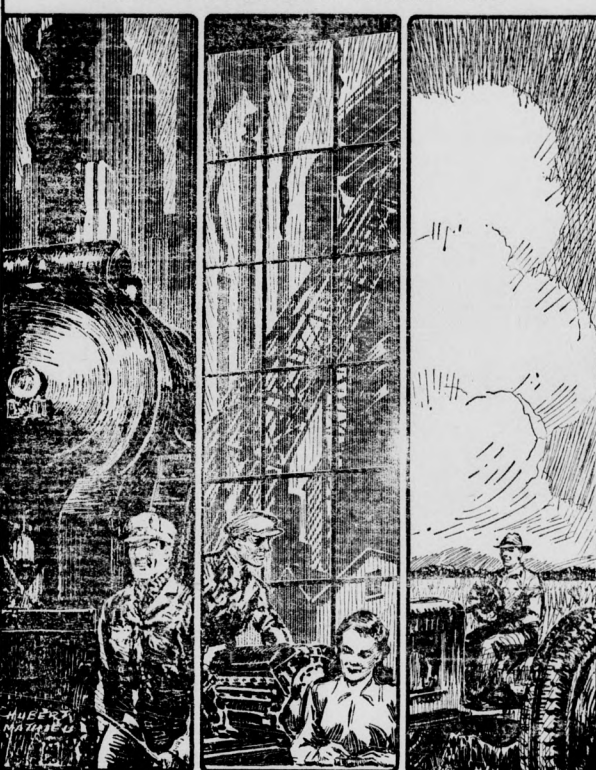

Some new buys indicate picture trends. Heywood Brown's stories, "The Sun Flower" and "The Boy Grew Older," recently have been taken over by Hollywood. John Steinbeck's "Cannery Row" will be on the summer production schedule. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will do three Sir Walter Scott novels—"Ivanhoe," "Quentin Durward," and "Kenilworth." Joan Leslie definitely will play the Marilyn Miller role in "Silver Lining," and Bob Hatten in the Jack Pickford part.

Cooperating in the movement to acquaint civilians with the "emblem nobody knows" and to express its appreciation to discharged military personnel, the Santa Fe Railway currently is featuring a reproduction of the honorable service button in its national billboard advertising program. Displays similar to the above now are appearing on billboards throughout the railroad's territory.

CURRY BUILDING Second Floor

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dowton and children of Palo Alto were Sunday guests at the Carl Field home for a barbecue dinner. Mrs. Dowton is a sister of Mrs. Field and Miss Rachel Spradling.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Field will leave next week for Seattle, Wash., to join a niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Shuler Bland on a trailer trip back to Campbell. The Blands have been employed at the Boeing plant but are now returning to their home in Florida.

The former Standard Service station building on the corner of Campbell avenue and Second street is being remodelled and will be occupied by A. M. Conley, a real estate broker.

Concrete Structure

The structure of set concrete was found to be an amazing combination of long needle-like crystals cemented or "spot-welded" together.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE

WHEN Mary Pickford was picked by the winning contestant on the Mutual network's "Queen for a Day" program as the person the "Queen" wanted to have tea with, Mary liked the idea of the program so much that she invited the mother of Merwyn LeRoy to hear it broadcast. Mrs. LeRoy enjoyed the broadcast so much that she promptly called her son, and talked so enthusiastically that he decided to make a Technicolor picture on the "Queen for a Day" idea of creating 24-hour Cinderellas. Monogram played host to "Queens" on the successive days. They watched Peter Cookson, Warren William and Anne Gwynne work on the "Suspense" set, then visited the night-club set of "Swing Parade."

Susan Hayward has left Paramount, where she got her start, and signed with Walter Wanger for seven years. Her first picture will be the technicolor Western, "Canyon Passage." with Dana Andrews and Brian Donlevy. She'll be working at Universal, right along with her husband, Jess Barker, who's playing a featured role in "As It Was Before."

There's a fine new radio show scheduled to start September 11. Cornelia Otis Skinner and Roland Young will be heard in more of the delightful "William and Mary" sketches, written by Miss Skinner, which were heard on the air a while ago. Barry Wood will be the singing master of ceremonies, and Ray Block's orchestra, a new mixed choral group, and a guest star will complete the program.

"A Night in Casablanca" will launch the Marx Brothers as independent film producers, and the Marxes will try it out on a stage tour of Pacific coast theaters and service camps. That is, they'll do five sketches that have been developed from the script, about 400,000 persons will see them, and the material that gets by with this critical audience will go into the picture.

Jack Douglas, writer and actor on the Phil Harris radio show, was given a baby shower by Harris and the cast when John Douglas Jr. arrived. One gift was a cradle which has rocked the babies of the Ronald Colmans, Ruth Hussey and Constance Moore, respectively.

William Goetz, head of International Pictures, is "agin'" long feature films, so his "Tomorrow Is Forever," starring Claudette Colbert, Orson Welles and George Brent, will reach the screen in less than 10,000 feet—will run less than two hours.

Twentieth Century-Fox plans to remake that lovely story, "Berkeley Square," in which Leslie Howard and Heather Angel originally appeared. But the story will be rewritten, and this time Maureen O'Hara, Gregory Peck and Jeanne Crain will have the leading roles.

"The Strange Adventure" has an Academy Award line-up: Clark Gable, Greer Garson, Thomas Mitchell, Director Victor Fleming and Cameraman Joseph Rutenberg have all won their Oscars. The chickens which chase the actors have no Oscars, but they're prize stunt hens.

Want to appear on a quiz show? Then take a tip from Quizmaster Fred Uttal, who selects guest contestants for the Wednesday night CBS "Detect and Collect" show. Fred says he looks the audience over and picks those with "the most eager hands."

ODDS AND ENDS—Cpl. Mickel Panatier is spending his 30-day furlough working in "Night and Day" at Warners. ... After two and a half years in the Coast Guard, Gig Young returns to Warners; he was last seen in "Old Acquaintance," with Bette Davis. ... 20th Century-Fox has re-optioned Allyn Joslyn for another year—he's currently appearing with Peggy Ann Garner in the film version of "Junior Miss." ... Dix Davis, "Randolph" on the NBC "Date With Judy" program, has signed for the role of Hugh Herbert's son in the Sunday CBS "That's My Pop." ... RKO will have two Danny Kaye technicolor comedies in 1945-46.

Jack Anderson Holds Meeting Tonight at 8

"Congress must act swiftly to help war workers who stayed on the job and finished the job," declared Congressman Jack Z. Anderson, on the eve of returning to Washington to face the mightiest task in United States legislative history.

Nation-wide employment is one of the subjects Anderson will take up at the meeting he is holding at the Montgomery theater, civic auditorium, San Jose, at 8 p. m. Thursday, Aug. 30, for the purpose of conferring with his constituents before leaving for Washington.

The meeting has been arranged to give residents of the 8th district the opportunity to discuss problems with Anderson. He hopes that everyone interested in the problems of reconversion—jobs, governmental control and other phases of national welfare—will attend the meeting and present their views.

Saturday, Sept. 1, from 7:15 to 7:30 p. m. Congressman Anderson will broadcast over radio station KQW. In his talk he will deal with the many problems to be solved in reconverting this nation from a wartime to a peacetime basis. He will deal particularly with the necessity of immediate and drastic action by Congress to secure full employment for the country.

"One of the first things Congress must do," said Anderson, "is to prevent hardship for those who have completed their essential work, both at home and in the armed forces. Congress will provide unemployment compensation in the period of reconversion and relocation, but every effort must be bent to speed the change to all-out peacetime production in industry, through the cooperation of government, management and labor."

"Kitcheneering" on paper is fun...
Makes a Model Kitchen
"Practically Yours"

The kitchen is one room in your home that should be personally planned and not accepted ready made. It is the room that should represent the ideas you "doodle-up" to make it fit your personality and working habits. ... For a basic plan, which includes the shape of the kitchen, step-saving arrangement of range, refrigerator and dishwasher together with supplementary cabinets, you will be well guided by the many free kitchen-planning booklets put out by home appliance manufacturers. Appliance dealers or any office of this company can obtain copies for you. You are, however the "kitcheneer" as to color scheme, handy placement of special drawers and cabinets to suit your working habits, fluorescent lighting and Adequate Wiring. For your kitchen, you should give special attention to the wiring, so that the lighting circuit is separate from the plug-in outlet circuits for full power operation of the refrigerator, kitchen mixer, roaster, coffee maker, toaster, etc. Be real fussy with your kitchen planning. It is the best way to right the wrongs that so often occur in the newest of homes.
